AVIATION ADORATION

While usually one can't wait to get out of an airplane seat, we can't wait to sink into these redesigned and reupholstered outcasts from airlines all over the world. InterFlight Studio in Miami recently launched their FlightStudio Airline Seat Collection of repurposed Boeing 747 "Jumbo Jet" seats that are upholstered in any fabric, leather, or vinyl of your choosing, including options by the likes of Hella Jongerius, Alexander Girard, and Giorgio Armani. The studio - dedicated to fabricating and selling flight-inspired contemporary art, design and consumer products - spends about three weeks customizing each set, and pricing starts around $1,750. Welcome aboard.

ABOUT VANDM.COM'S DESIGN INTELL

DESIGNinTELL, VandM.com's Online Magazine, is look at the world through a combination of "feet on the ground" reality and "head in the clouds" aspiration. We like to think of it in New York terms as "uptown smarts" with "downtown edge". DESIGNinTELL features design and art related events, original stories, design interviews, and more.
